Salute to King Harbor Set Saturday

More than 400 boating enthusiasts have made reservations for Avalon's "Salute to Redondo Beach King Harbor," according to Harrison A. Daigh, director of the Redondo Beach King Harbor. The salute will be staged Saturday.

Daigh said the Avalon honor, the first ever offered, will be followed by similar salutes to other Southern California marinas.

The event, sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Avalon and Redondo Beach Harbor Department, will be an annual affair.

THERE IS no charge for the tour and participants will receive free mooring in Avalon. A "Welcome Flag" will be given for all boats. Highlighting the affair is a dinner-dance at the Casino Ballroom. Reservations are priced at $4.50 and each boat will be greeted by Miss Avalon, who will pass out free bottles of champagne.

Coast Guard cutters and Coast Guard Auxiliary boats will form a safety picket line across the channel, according to sponsors of the event.

HONORED guests will include Mayor and Mrs. William F. Czuleger, Chamber of Commerce President and Mrs. Carl L. Rogers, and Daigh and his wife. Honorary chairman of the event is Tom Frandsen, a television personality. Stan Vaughan is general chairman.

Reservations and further information may be obtained from the Harbor office, FR 2-1171, or the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce, FR 5-0554.

Gift Wrap Plant To Open in City

Opening of a gift wrap finishing plant and warehouse at 617 Hawaii Ave. in the Central Manufacturing District was announced today by Ben-Mont, a gift wrap manufacturing firm with headquarters in Bennington, Vt.

The new plant will convert print rolls and tissue rolls supplied by Ben-Mont plants in Bennington and Wells River, Vt., into finished retail items for sale in the western United States.

Operation of the local plant will be under the direction of George H. Phreaner, a Los Angeles area resident who will be general manager, and Albert H. Jones, being transferred from the firm's headquarters to serve as plant superintendent.

The Torrance facility will serve customers in 13 western states, according to Craig C. Smith, president of Ben-Mont.

Phreaner, who will head the West Coast operations of Ben-Mont, is a former national sales manager for Bausch and Lomb, Inc., and most recently was the Los Angeles zone manager for the Xerox Corp.

He and his wife, Ann, now live in Palos Verdes Estates. Jones, presently maintenance supervisor of Ben-Mont's Bennington plant, has been with the firm for 24 years. He is a native of Vermont.
